MANAGEMENT TEAM REVIEW: November 15, 2007

BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

The 2006-2007 school year was a busy year for NAEP activity in Arizona schools as well as in-house. The NAEP 2007 Reading and Mathematics Assessments were administered in approximately 263 schools between January 22 and March 2, 2007. Following the NAEP administration, an alignment study was conducted in June comparing the NAEP Mathematics Framework to the current Arizona Mathematics Standard. These findings were reported to the Arizona Mathematics Revision Committee in late September.

This is a presentation of the results from the 2007 NAEP activity in Arizona. The data presented will include NAEP scale scores and achievement levels for subgroups in addition to overall state results.
